A Project of:

The Connecticut Council on Developmental Disabilities

In Partnership With:

The Office of Protection and Advocacy for Persons with Disabilities

The A.J. Pappanikou Center for Excellence in Developmental Disabilities

What is Partners in Policymaking?

The goal of Partners in Policymaking is to foster a collaboration among people with disabilities, parents who have children with disabilities, and policy makers at national, state and local levels. Partners in Policymaking training teaches people to be leaders in shaping policy for people with disabilities and their families. Graduates of past Partners in Policymaking training in Connecticut have become involved in key policy and advocacy roles in the state. The graduates of CT Partners in Policymaking often become members of boards, councils, task forces and advisory committees. They are recognized as skilled and capable leaders in disability issues in their communities and in the state.

Who Should Apply?

- ♦ Parents and family members of children with disabilities
- ♦ Individuals with disabilities

Participants should be able to actively participate in training and discussion and complete an independent advocacy project. Thirty participants will be chosen. One half of the participants will be parents or family members of children with disabilities and one half will be individuals with disabilities.

About the Training
